About the Role

KOHO is seeking a highly motivated Data Analyst to collaborate with various departments in leveraging data for informed decision-making. If you thrive on automating reports, building pipelines in DBT, crafting dashboards, and extracting actionable insights from financial data, this role is tailored for you. As part of our team, you will immerse yourself in writing SQL queries, collaborating with technical teams and Product Managers building our features, and engaging in consultative sessions with stakeholders across the business.

What You'll Do

- Analyze new and existing data sources to develop accurate and insightful reports.
- Build data pipelines in DBT to power our reporting
- Perform in-depth analysis of product data to drive strategic decision-making.
- Prioritize and manage incoming data requests effectively within your workflow.
- Collaborate closely with other members of the data team to execute projects and uphold the integrity of our data warehouse as the cornerstone of truth at KOHO.
- Be immersed in a tech pod. Participate in the feature development process from requirements to product launches. Collaborate with software engineers to ensure the data collected meets reporting needs

Who You Are

- Proven experience in a data analyst role, with a focus on data modelling
- Proficiency in SQL for data manipulation, including self-joins, window functions, and parameter usage.
- Demonstrated experience with dbt from previous roles.
- Quick grasp of business concepts, metrics, and KPIs.
- Well-organized with excellent time management skills.
- Bonus: Experience working with Product teams

At KOHO, we are dedicated to providing pay transparency to all candidates. Compensation at KOHO is determined through various factors including but not limited to: comparable salary market data within Canada, technical skill assessment, a holistic view of previous work history, and internal pay equity with other KOHO team members.

Target Base Salary Range

$83,000—$95,000 CAD

What's In It For You?

We invest time and resources into making sure KOHO is as good as the people we hire. Here are some of the reasons we attract the best people:

☒☒ Balance Your Life - Company-wide summer wellness days, winter holiday closure, personal days, a wellness spending account, and maternity & parental leave top-up

☒ Remote First - Work from anywhere in Canada with a budget to set up your home office

☒ Level Up - Access to an in-house certified performance coach and an annual training budget

☒ Reach Your Goals - Salary assessments twice per year

☒ The KOHO Culture - We have won 7 "Great Place to Work ®" awards since 2019

☒ Be an Owner - Every KOHO employee gets a generous amount of equity with a 10 year exercise window
The KOHO culture is one of collaboration, creativity, and diverse perspectives. We are committed to building and fostering an inclusive, accessible environment for everyone. If you have any questions, concerns, or requests regarding accessibility needs, please contact peopleaccessibility@koho.ca and the People and Culture team will be happy to help.
